

Play Therapy Consultation Group

The group experience will provide consultation on the utilization of play therapy skills and the application of play therapy techniques and approaches.

Who Should Attend?

The group is ideally suited for therapists interested in expanding their repertoire of child and play therapy skills and further developing their own practice models. Clinical consultation hours may be eligible towards certification as a Child and Play Therapist with CAPT.

What to Expect:

- A safe, collegial environment to a closed group membership (Minimum five and Maximum ten participants)
- Opportunities for case presentations and case consultations based on the entire spectrum of child intervention models (directive-to-nondirective)
- A comprehensive, process-oriented experience that will consist of both theoretical and experiential play therapy applications, including non-directive, directive and Theraplay models.

About the Consultants:

Monique Gougeon and Patti Sutherland are Certified Child and Play Therapists and Supervisors with the Canadian Association for Play Therapy.

For those who are registered in the Play Therapy Certificate Program with CAPT participation provides 10 clinical group consultation hours eligible towards certification.
